

Journal of the Scottish Society for Art History Open Access Policy

The Scottish Society for Art History is committed to supporting and promoting art historical research in Scotland. As part of this, we have implemented the following policy for articles published in our annual Journal (JSSAH).

JSSAH is published on a Green Open Access basis. This permits authors to deposit the 'Accepted Manuscript' version of their article in their institutional repository with no embargo. Authors may deposit the Accepted Manuscript version in a non-commercial disciplinary repository one year after print publication. This policy complies with current funding body mandates on Green Open Access publishing/self-archiving. An unrestricted non-commercial use license applies (CC BY NC).

The Society allows authors to retain the following rights:

- (a) Personal or departmental webpage: the right to post either the Author's Original (AO) or Accepted Manuscript (AM) version of the contribution on their personal or departmental web page. Any posting of the AM version should include a prominent statement that the article has been accepted for publication by the Scottish Society for Art History in its journal, together with a link to the SSAH website (www.ssah.org.uk). Where possible, the link should be updated after publication to include the full bibliographic details (volume, date, page numbers).
- (b) Institutional repository: the right to post the AM version of the contribution in their institutional repository. The posting should include a prominent statement that the article has been accepted for publication by the Scottish Society for Art History in its journal, together with a link to the SSAH website (www.ssah.org.uk), which will provide information on how to acquire the volume of JSSAH containing the Version of Record (VoR). Where possible, the link should be updated after publication to include the full bibliographic details (volume, date, page numbers).
- (c) Non-commercial subject repository: the right to post the AM version of the contribution in a subject repository that does not offer content for commercial sale, one year following publication in print. The posting should include a prominent statement that the article has been accepted for publication by the Scottish Society for Art History in its journal, together with a link to the SSAH website (www.ssah.org.uk), which will provide information on how to acquire the volume of JSSAH containing the Version of Record (VoR). Where possible, the link should be updated after publication to include the full bibliographic details (volume, date, page numbers).
- (d) Commercial repositories and social networking sites: the right to post the AO version of the contribution in commercial repositories such as the Social Science Research Network (SSRN) and social networking sites such as ResearchGate and Academia.edu at any time. The AM version and VoR may not be shared on social media sites.
- (e) Personal use: the right to use the VoR for their own teaching needs or to supply on an individual basis to research colleagues, provided that such supply is not for commercial purposes.

- (f) Reproduction: the right to reproduce the contribution or a related version of it in any volume for which they are author or editor. Permission is automatically given to the publisher of such a volume, subject to full bibliographic acknowledgement.

Version of Record

The Version of Record of the article, as it appears in JSSAH following layout and proof correction, may not be deposited by authors in institutional repositories or on any commercial networks, including SSRN. For Profit social networking sites such as ResearchGate and Academia.edu are considered 'commercial' platforms. Authors may post an abstract of the article on publication, accompanied by the full bibliographic details (journal title, volume, date, page numbers) together with a link to the Society's website where information on how to acquire the relevant issue of JSSAH can be found (www.sssah.org.uk).
